Four Monroe County commissioners have apparently been found guilty of ethics violations. This will be formalized on October 20. George Neugent faced a fine and a reprimand this time last year. That means all five sitting county commissioners are guilty of ethics violations.

Five out of five. Wow! This would be newsworthy anywhere else in the world, yet neither the Citizen nor the Keynoter/Reporter has said a word about it. I'm curious as to why that is.

Remember that time Amy Heavilin deleted some emails? It was portrayed as a huge scandal. But five county commissioners lie on their financial disclosure forms and nothing? Gosh, it's just such a weird imbalance. It certainly is hard not to notice the seeming bias.

I'd really appreciate some feedback on this.

Thanks and have a nice day.
